

STAGE INTRODUCTION

READY-TO-USE INTRODUCTION

Script version

Our next keynote speaker has spent his career helping people create connection through the universal language of music. Today, he's passionate about helping leaders create the same kind of connection through clear communication and resonant leadership presence.

Bronkar Lee is an author, producer, and musical innovator whose career has taken him from street performer to circus ringmaster, from The Tonight Show to a Super Bowl commercial, from the stage at Madison Square Garden to a viral father-son beatboxing video with over a billion views.

Drawing from decades of leading live productions and high-performing teams, Bronkar now helps organizations strengthen leadership presence, align teams, and inspire meaningful action through engaging experiences.

Please join me in welcoming Bronkar Lee.

Bullet version

- Keynote speaker, author, producer, and musical innovator
- Featured on The Tonight Show, in a Super Bowl commercial, and performed at Madison Square Garden
- Father-son beatboxing video viewed more than a billion times
- Draws on decades of leading live productions, bands, and high-performing teams
- Today, we're going to experience some music together, get into alignment, and walk away with practical leadership insights to strengthen our leadership presence, align our teams, and elevate our culture
- Please welcome Bronkar Lee!